This recreational property in Eastern Oregon is situated just over two miles north of Highway 20, as the crow flies. The land consists of nine separate parcels featuring high desert terrain, characterized by juniper trees, rabbit brush, sagebrush, crested wheatgrass, and other native vegetation. Approximately 0.6 miles to the west lies Sheep Lake, providing a valuable water source for local wildlife.

The land directly borders public BLM (Bureau of Land Management) ground and falls within the Silvies Hunting Unit, offering opportunities to apply for Landowner Preference (LOP) tags or to establish a convenient hunting base camp. Whether you're seeking a peaceful getaway from the city or a strategic spot for hunting adventures, this property is well worth a look.
